November 19 to November 27, 2009

The mooring field at Leverick Bay in Gorda Sound

Kevin prepares to pick up a mooring

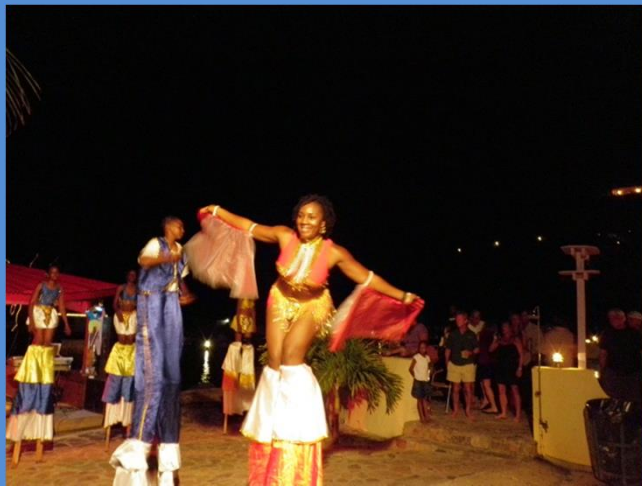

Julie catches up on her reading and enjoys the evening

Jen, Gregg and Quinn Merkel join us for dinner and the Jumbie show

The Jumbies are on stilts about 5 feet high and they dance and do acrobatics on a stone floor and even into the sand beach

It did not take Julie and Kevin long to get into the relaxed island mood while Susan and Randy just enjoy having them on board

Sailing between islands in the Sir Francis Drake Channel

The beach and restaurant on Ginger Island

We enjoyed a lunch at Foxy's on Jost Van Dyke

Kevin was delighted to find a Broncos logo on the Budwiser sign

The anchorage at Trellis Bay that we used when meeting folks at the airport that was about a half mile walk from the beach

We meet Cary Payne at the airport

We enjoy dinner at de Loose Mongoose restaurant

Notice the smiles. These folks are enjoying the sailing and the weather

Kevin makes a new friend at the Bitter End Resort on Virgin Gorda and we all enjoyed a wonderful dinner

Randy enjoys thinking about all the diesel that this mega yacht is burning as it passes us.

Lots of reflection as we do our last sail back to Trellis Bay for Julie, Kevin and Cary to fly out.

Deb gives Randy a cribbage lesson

Julie enjoys a relaxing sail

Deb enjoys steering and she did a fantastic job of holding a course

Deb and Julie prepare to pick up the mooring
